Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, April 2, to Saturday, April 9, 1737.

The SPEECH of the Lords Commiſſioners appointed by His MAJESTY, for Holding this Parliament; delivered by the Lord High Chancellor to both Houſes of Parliament, on Tueſday the Firſt Day of February, 1736.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IN purſuance of the Authority given us by his Majeſty's Commiſſion, under the great Seal, amongſt other Things to declare the Cauſes of His holding this Parliament, we are, by His Majeſty's Command, in the firſt Place, to obſerve to you, That His Majeſty acquainted you laſt Year, that he had, in Conjunction with the States General, given His Approbation of certain Preliminary Articles concerted and agreed upon between the Emperor and France, for reſtoring the Peace of Europe; and that a further Convention, concerning the Execution of them, had been communicated to Him by both thoſe Courts; and that Negociations were carrying on by the ſeveral Powers engaged in the late War, in order to ſettle the General Pacification.

We are now commanded by his Majeſty to inform you, that the reſpective Acts of Ceſſion being exchanged, and Orders given for the Evacuation and Poſſeſſion of the ſeveral Countries and Places, by the Powers concerned according to the Allotment and Diſpoſition of the Preliminary Articles, the great Work of re-eſtabliſhing the General Tranquillity is far advanced; however, it is His Majeſty's Opinion, that common Prudence calls upon us to be very attentive to, and obſerve the final Concluſion of this new Settlement of ſuch conſiderable Parts of Europe. It is to be hoped, that a general and laſting Tranquillity will follow this Reſtitution of Peace, and that the Renewal of Friendſhip and Alliances, for the Preſervation of it, among the ſeveral Princes and Powers of Europe, will remove all Dangers and Apprehenſions of any new Troubles and Diſorders; but his Majeſty apprehends, that an indolent Security, and too great a Diſregard to future Events, may occaſion Miſchiefs more eaſy to be prevented, than to be remedied; and that it would be very unadviſeable to leave our ſelves in ſo defenceleſs a Condition, as to encourage any Enterprizes, which the Enemies to the Publick Peace may have vainly ſuggeſted and flattered themſelves with the Hopes of.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

His Majeſty has ordered the proper Officers to lay before you the Eſtimates for the current Year; as ſoon as the Circumſtances of the Times would permit, His Majeſty was pleaſed to make ſuch a Reduction of ſome Part of the publick Expences for the Eaſe of His People, as was conſiſtent with the Peace and Safety of His Kingdoms, the Security of our Commerce, and the Honour and Intereſt of the Nation.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

His Majeſty has been graciouſly pleaſed to direct us to acquaint you, that he hath ſeen with the greateſt Satisfaction the unwearied Application of this Parliament, in framing good Laws for advancing the Proſperity, and ſecuring the Welfare of His loving Subjects; and that it hath been one of his Majeſty's principal Cares to enforce them by a due Execution, with the ſtricteſt Regard to the Rights and Properties of His People, no Invaſion whereof can with any Colour be ſuggeſted by the moſt malicious Enemies of the preſent Eſtabliſhment. Whilſt this hath been our Condition, His Majeſty cannot but obſerve, that it muſt be Matter of the utmoſt Surpriſe and Concern to every true Lover of his Country, to ſee the many Contrivances and Attempts carried on in various Shapes, and in different Parts of the Nation, tumultuouſly to reſiſt and obſtruct the Execution of the Laws, and to violate the Peace of the Kingdom. The Diſturbers of the Publick Repoſe, conſcious, that the Intereſts of His Majeſty and His People

People are the same, and of the good Harmony, which happily subsists between Him and his Parliament, have leveled their Sedition against both; and in their late Outrages have either directly opposed, or at least endeavoured to render ineffectual some Acts of the whole Legislature. His Majesty in his great Wisdom thinks it affords a melancholy Prospect to consider to what Height these audacious Practices may rise, if not timely suppressed, and that it deserves no small Attention, that they may go on to affect private Persons in the quiet Enjoyment of their Property, as well as the general Peace, and good Order of the whole; His Majesty apprehends it to be unnecessary to enlarge upon a Subject of this Nature, and therefore hath commanded us barely to mention it to you, who, by the constant Tenor of your Conduct, have shewn, that you consider the Support of His Authority, and the Security of his Government, as inseparable from the Preservation of the Publick Tranquillity, and your own Safety.

Extract of a Letter from Barcelona, Dec. 10.

Two Months ago I informed you what little Foundation there was for the Reports of a terrible Armament carrying on in Catalonia, and a numerous Embarkation of Troops from hence; but now I can assure you Things have quite another Face. The Intendant of the Marine in this City received an Order from Court the Beginning of this Month to lay an Embargo, that is, take up upon Freight not only all the Foreign Ships, who were or should arrive in this Port, but also all the Barks in general. This Order was immediately put in Execution, and they have already freighted above one hundred Vessels of one sort or other; but as there is no Appearance of their being employed before the Months of February or March next, they have assigned them different Places upon the Coasts of Catalonia, where they are to lie by 'till that Time. It is said with great Certainty, that a Body of Eight or Ten Thousand Men will be embarked, but upon what Design is kept profoundly secret. This you may depend upon, that Don Patinho's Death will not hinder the Execution of the Schemes that great Minister had formed to extend the Glory of the Spanish Monarchy, and preserve her natural Right. In three or four Weeks I shall be able to inform you of the true Design of these Preparations: At first there was some Difficulty about the Payment of the Freight of the Foreign Ships, especially the Dutch; but now every Thing is regulated, and that to the entire Satisfaction of the Captains and Owners.

Vienna, December 19.

At the Opening of the Annual Dyet of Bohemia, the Emperor demanded the ordinary Subsidy of 2,000,000 of Florins, and an extraordinary one of 1,300,000; and his Imperial Majesty has since given Orders for buying up 10,000 Horses in the Empire for the the Cavalry in Hungary. All we can discover of the Resolutions taken by the Grand Vizier and Sultan Galga, the new Cham of Crim Tartary, in the great Council held with all the Bashaws of Turky in Europe, is, that all the Tributary Tartars shall make a Diversion in the Ukraine, whilst the Grand Signior's Troops dispute the Passage of the Danube against the Imperialists: But they write from Constantinople, that the Grand Vizier is not look'd upon active enough to command the Turkish Army next; and that the Porte talks of putting Bashaw Kuprogly at the Head of it, Bashaw Bonneval as second General, and the Aga of the Janissaries as third.

PARIS, January 2.

On the 27th of last Month, being the Festival of St. John the Evangelist, there was held at the Great St. Germain in the Street of Paon, a general Assembly of the most ancient and honourable Society of Free-Masons, in order to proceed to the Election of a Grand Master. After the ordinary Ceremonies, they proclaimed with great Acclamations the [pretended] High and Mighty Lord, Charles Ratcliff, Earl of Derwentwater Peer of England, in the room of the [pretended] High and Mighty Lord Sir James Maclean, Knight and Baronet of Scotland, who had been continued in that honourable Charge by Election for several Years, to the Satisfaction of the Society. Upon that Occasion there was a magnificent Feast, where many persons, to the Number of Sixty, appear'd in the Habits of Ceremony, and went in Coaches to the Great Lodge; when after the Entertainment, the Proclamation of the Grand Master and his Officers was accompany'd with a general Applause, under the Sound of Trumpets, Kettle-Drums, and Hunting-Horns, followed by a Concert of Vocal and Instrumental Musick. The Festival being ended to the Contentment of the whole Assembly, each Lodge returned Home in the same Manner as they came.
